Taft had sttempted to compel Mr. Hynicka and Mr. Herrmann to bring about an indersement of Secretary Taft for President by the Republican county organization as part of the mayoralty campaign, and even declared that if they did not do so, he, Charles P. Taft, would build up an organization in the county which, with the support of his newspaper, would demolish the organization now dominated by Cox, Hynicka, and Herrmann. The Foraker people also insisted that Hynicka and Herrmann agreed with Cox that there should not be national and State matters brought into the approaching municipal campaign in Cincinnati.
